

I haven't been happier since signing up for the Do Not Call list. Not only was it annoying to receive those calls, but it was a task getting those folks to hang up. It got to the point that if you hang up on them, they just call back. My family now has quality time we can spend with each other without those annoying interruptions. We would be devastated if this New Jersey's consumer protection laws weakened.